Keep a social distance

Enabling your Compliance with Social Distancing

The Government insists that Key Service providers, including retailers, take measures to enforce social distancing rules with strict restrictions imposed on people flow including; entry and exit provisions and maximum capacities in an area, resulting in 'one in, one out' policies.

To enable these measures many retailers have responded by assigning physical personnel to control people flow at their entrances. This option is not only expensive but puts the personnel and the public at risk.

Marlowe Fire & Security has a cost effective, efficient and risk mitigating solution to support our retail customers during this time.

Measure and manage your occupancy levels to help comply with Social Distancing restrictions

Our innovative People Counting & Flow Control Solution can ensure your compliance with Social Distancing restrictions for the safety of customers and staff.

The system analyses how many people are inside an area and allows you to display numbers in real-time.

This can be configured with screen displays at the entrance to your store that quickly informs customers whether it is safe to enter or for them to wait until someone exits because maximum occupancy has been reached.

The system can trigger an alarm when maximum capacity is met and can link with a traffic light system or use audio and visual verification to notify staff/public when the premises are full.

The technology can be configured with automatic door closures and door locking systems, automatically controlling them once the number of people has reached the store or building's capacity.

Our enhanced live occupancy solution can be implemented and customised to your specific requirements

This solution has been designed to support the wide range of industries on the frontline of the nation's fight against Coronavirus, as well as those looking to prepare for when current restrictions are eased.
